Masters transfer candidates do not receive backdated stipend or tuition fees for the period of their master's enrolment that is transferred to a PhD enrolment.*
- IX. Awardees of a University of Auckland Doctoral Scholarship are normally required to be enrolled on a full-time basis. Full-time is defined as 40 hours of doctoral work per week for 47 weeks a year. However, domestic candidates for whom compassionate and compelling circumstances make part-time enrolment preferable may apply to the Scholarships Committee, through the Scholarships Office, to hold a scholarship on a part-time basis, pro-rated. Compassionate and compelling circumstances mean circumstances that are generally beyond the candidate's control and have an impact on their ability to study full-time. For example: serious illness or injury, pregnancy or childbirth, care responsibilities for whānau, and traumatic experiences. Part-time is defined as 20 hours per week of doctoral work. Candidates will not be granted permission to hold a University of Auckland Doctoral Scholarship on a part-time basis if they are undertaking full-time paid employment or substantial part-time employment. Candidates who hold a scholarship on a part-time basis are subject to the same employment restrictions as full-time scholarship holders (i.e. 750 hours per 12 month period) and are required to change to full-time enrolment if their circumstances mean they no longer qualify to hold the scholarship on a part-time basis. The restrictions and provisions of this note do not apply to compulsory part-time enrolment in the EdD or DHSc. For the avoidance of doubt: international applicants who are eligible to pay domestic PhD tuition fees but required by their student visa to study full-time are not eligible to hold the Scholarship part-time.

- XIII. To take up the scholarship means to commence doctoral enrolment and the tenure of the scholarship.
- XIV. Where a University of Auckland Doctoral Scholarship is held at the time of conclusion of doctoral enrolment or withdrawal from the doctoral programme or termination of the awardee's doctoral candidature, tenure of the Scholarship will terminate, effective on the date determined by the Scholarships Committee.
