Description

The Global Public Health Prize was established in 2011 by Emeriti Professors Ruth Bonita Beaglehole and Robert Beaglehole in the Faculty of Medical and Health Sciences.

The main purpose of the Prize is to encourage and recognise students who have obtained excellence in their studies in the field of Global Public Health.

Selection process

- Nomination is made to the Scholarships Office
- The Prize will be awarded by the University of Auckland Council upon the recommendation of the Head of the School of Population Health

Regulations

- 1. The Prize will be known as the Global Public Health Prize.
- 2. The value of the Prize will be $1,000.
- 3. The Prize will be awarded annually to the student who has obtained the highest aggregate marks over POPHLTH 715 Global Public Health and POPHLTH 752 Case Studies in Global Health. As a minimum standard, the recipient must have achieved at least an A- grade in each course (see Note I).
- 4. The Prize will be awarded by the University of Auckland Council upon the recommendation of the Head of the School of Population Health (or nominee).
- 5. In the event of a tie, the Head of the School of Population Health (or nominee) shall determine if the Prize may be shared.
- 6. The University of Auckland Council will not be bound to award the Prize if in any year there is no candidate of sufficient merit.
- 7. The University of Auckland Council has the power to amend or vary these regulations provided that there is no departure from the main purpose of the Prize.

Notes

Notes
I. Students are considered for the Prize in the year in which they complete the second of the two courses, POPHLTH 715 or POPHLTH 752. The aggregate marks over those two courses will be considered for the Prize.
