Description

The Prize is one of two prizes established by Sir William and Lady Goodfellow, to be awarded to students of the Auckland School of Medicine. It commemorates Lieutenant Eric Hector Goodfellow who, after a distinguished first year of medical study at Edinburgh, served in the British Army during the First World War and was killed in action.

The recipient will be expected to use the majority of the prize money to extend their insight into the professional practice of medicine.

Selection process

- Nomination is made to the Scholarships Office
- The Prize will be awarded by the University of Auckland Council on the recommendation of the Head of the Medical Programme

Regulations

1. The Prize will be known as the Eric Hector Goodfellow Memorial Prize.
2. The value of the Prize will be approximately $1,600.
3. The Prize will be awarded annually for the most distinguished academic performance throughout the entire programme of study from among those completing Phase I of the MBChB.
4. The Prize will be awarded by the University of Auckland Council on the recommendation of the Head of the Medical Programme.
5. The University of Auckland Council will not be bound to award the Prize in any year if there is no candidate of sufficient merit.
