Welcome

Welcome to the 2019 Scholarships and awards for students with disabilities booklet. We have organised the scholarships in disability-specific order. We also have included disability scholarships and awards for school leavers.

In addition to disability-specific scholarships we have added some general scholarships and awards.

We encourage you to find out more about these and any other scholarships and awards you may be eligible for. Good luck with your future applications.

How to apply for a University scholarship

This page describes how to apply for a scholarship at the University of Auckland.

Applying for a scholarship

Selection criteria: you should carefully read the regulations of the scholarship you are applying for to check for your eligibility and what is required of you.

Application forms: each scholarship's application process is different. You'll find the application form on the page of the scholarship you are applying for. You must always source the application form directly from the Scholarships website.

Find a scholarship or award

Make sure you complete and submit an online application form to the Scholarships Office by the scholarship due date.

Written statement: most application forms include a one-page written statement. You should only include information relevant to the application, for example details of proposed future study and career, any relevant work experience (interests and/or community) and achievements.

Academic record: if you have already completed some tertiary study at the University of Auckland, you don't need to provide an academic transcript with your application. However, if you have academic records from any other university in New Zealand or overseas, then you must include transcripts showing all grades with your application.

International students: you are considered an international student if you are not a citizen or permanent resident of New Zealand or Australia. For important information about admission, enrolment and scholarships, you can visit the International Office.

How Scholarships are awarded

University of Auckland scholarship applications are submitted to a selection committee. The selection committee normally consists of:

- The Vice-Chancellor's nominee.
- A representative of the appropriate faculty.
- One or two representatives of the sponsor.

The selection committee makes its recommendation to the Scholarships Sub-Committee, which awards the scholarship.

Scholarships awarded by Universities New Zealand go through a pre-selection process at the University of Auckland before nominations are made to Universities New Zealand Te Pokai Tara. Applications for these scholarships should be made directly through Universities New Zealand.

Prizes

Prizes are awarded by the Scholarships Sub-Committee on behalf of the University of Auckland Council. You don't usually need to apply for prizes. They are awarded on the recommendation of the head of the appropriate department. Visit Prizes

Alicia Kapa

Ngāpuhi

3rd year Bachelor of Arts (BA), majoring in Criminology and Māori Studies

I have overcome a lot of challenges during tertiary study, and the University of Auckland and my whānau have supported me on my journey. Having cerebral palsy might feel like a barrier at times, but with the right support and my own commitment to succeed, I know I can meet my goals, at University and in life.

My family and I greatly value education. I began my Bachelor of Arts degree as a member of the University's Undergraduate Targeted Admission Schemes (UTAS). This pathway opened the door to Tuākana, the University-wide programme of academic support for Māori and Pacific students.

Tuākana has taught me to relate my coursework to everyday life and to better understand the theories and ideas that inform my studies. Tuākana has also helped me connect more deeply with my culture. As part of this connection, I'm learning Te Reo Māori. This has been an especially important step, as it keeps me grounded and reminds me where I'm from.

When I'm not keeping busy with study and assignments, even my downtime is hectic! A friend and I host a YouTube channel called Wheely Wacky Adventures. It gives tips and information for people with disabilities, and lets viewers follow us on adventures such as bungy jumping.

When I graduate, I will be supported by a strong connection with my family and a qualification from a world-ranked University. I don't know what the future holds, but I know it will be bright.
