Staying Water Safe on Holiday

What hazards should I be aware of at the beach?

Waves
A strong wave could knock you off your feet even in shallow water. Always be careful as waves can drag you out to sea.

Tides
Tides can come in very quickly trapping the unwary away from safety. When visiting the beach stay alert and learn the times of the tides.

Rip currents
Rip currents are strong flowing areas of water that move out to sea from the shoreline, they can quickly drag swimmers out to sea.

If you get caught in a rip current you must

- Stay calm and try to stand up if possible
- Shout for help
- Wave your arm above your head so you can be seen
- Swim parallel to shore until you are out of the rip.

Three circular images are arranged vertically on the right side of the poster. The top image shows a large, white-capped wave crashing. The middle image shows a view of the ocean with waves breaking. The bottom image is a diagram of a rip current, showing a swimmer being pulled out to sea and another swimmer being pulled back to shore. Labels include "Rip current", "Direction of current", "Beach", "Rip Head", "Incoming waves", "Swimmer carried out to sea", and "Swim Parallel to shore".
