

1. Making an aegrotat or compassionate application for your tests or final exams

You can make an aegrotat application for aegrotat or compassionate consideration for written tests or final exams from your 'Landing Page':

- Open aegrotat.auckland.ac.nz/apply
- Access more information and guidance if required
- View and update your contact details
- Click Start New Application.

You can apply for aegrotat or compassionate consideration if you feel that unforeseen circumstances beyond your control have significantly affected one or more of your tests or exams. By submitting an application, you agree that all information you have provided as part of the application process is true and correct.

The aegrotat and compassionate consideration process is bound by University regulations that must be adhered to.

The University encourages all students to sit their tests or exams where possible.

Qualifying criteria for end of semester exams

B

- You must have been prevented from sitting the exam or consider that your preparation for and/or performance in the exam was seriously impaired. You will need to show as part of your application how your circumstances have seriously impacted your test or exam.
- Your circumstances must be temporary (2 weeks prior to exam date), unforeseen, exceptional and beyond your control.
- You must provide a statement to support your application, outlining how your exam was significantly affected by your circumstances. You will be asked to upload supporting documentation or evidence to support your circumstances where such evidence can be reasonably obtained.
- Your total coursework for the relevant course needs to be at a minimum of C- (pass grade) standard.
- You must submit your application with the evidence no later than seven days (inclusive) after the exam date. If you are applying for multiple exams, you must submit your application no later than seven days after the last affected exam date. For example, if your exam is on the 20th of the month, your application must be received by end of day on the 26th.

Important note: an aegrotat or compassionate consideration grade is not an additional mark added because of illness or misfortune or a 'grade bump.' The University cannot award a result for a course where it does not have reasonable academic evidence that the appropriate level of understanding of course material has been exhibited throughout the course.

Qualifying criteria for tests

C

- You must have been prevented from sitting the test or consider that your preparation for and/or performance in the test was seriously impaired
- Your circumstances must be temporary (2 weeks prior to test date), unforeseen, exceptional and beyond your control.
- You must provide a statement to support your application, outlining how your test was significantly affected by your circumstances. You will be asked to upload supporting documentation or evidence to support your circumstances where such evidence can be reasonably obtained.
- The test must count for a percentage of the marks awarded for the course.
- You must submit the application with the evidence no later than seven days (inclusive) after the test date. For example, if your test is on the 20th of the month, your application must be received by end of day on the 26th.

D Aegrotat - Evidence Requirements

Compassionate - Evidence Requirements

If your circumstances are related to a medical issue, please apply for an aegrotat. You will need to provide a statement with your application explaining your circumstances and how such circumstances significantly impacted your preparation, performance and or ability to sit your test or exam. You must provide evidence in support of your application where such evidence can be reasonably obtained. We understand it is more difficult in the current outbreak to obtain the evidence you would normally be able to provide and are flexible on what evidence will be accepted. If we need further information to progress your application, we will contact you.

E Aegrotat - Evidence Requirements

Compassionate - Evidence Requirements

If your circumstance is not related to a medical or health issue, please apply for compassionate consideration. This may include technical issues, or other personal misfortune (such as family illness, bereavement, serious relationship or family issues). Such circumstances must be unforeseen, beyond your control and have significantly impaired your preparation and/or performance or ability to sit your test or exam. You will need to provide a statement with your application explaining your circumstances and how such circumstances significantly impacted your preparation, performance and or ability to sit your test or exam. You must provide evidence in support of your application where such evidence can be reasonably obtained. We understand it is more difficult in the current outbreak to obtain the evidence you would normally be able to provide and are flexible on what evidence will be accepted. If we need further information to progress your application, we will contact you.

If you are applying for compassionate consideration for technical issues during your exam, please provide a detailed explanation and include copies of email communication to the University at the time of the exam. Evidence may include screenshots of error messages or official notice of a power outage from your power provider, for example. For more detailed information regarding appropriate supporting document, see Required evidence for aegrotat and compassionate consideration applications.

I. Application History: this section provides an overview of previously started, saved or submitted applications. It displays the application number, application type, assessment method (exam or test), term, submission date, application status and Workflow Status.

Application Status

This indicates where your application currently sits as one of the following:

- Not Submitted Your application has yet to be submitted. Select your application and click on the edit button to submit and pay. It may also have been submitted but then cancelled at your request.
- Submitted Your application has been submitted and payment received.
- Under Review Your application is being assessed.
- Evidence Incomplete You will receive an email from Assessment Services to provide more evidence. To submit more evidence, go to the application portal and scroll down to the bottom of the page until you see your Application History. Select the application line which says Evidence Incomplete. An Edit button will display. Click on this and it will take you to your application to upload the evidence and resubmit. Do not start a new application.
- Complete Your application has been declined by the independent moderator due to insufficient evidence to support your application (Workflow Status = With Moderator) or Your application has been assessed and the outcome sent to your student email (workflow status = With Exams Office or With Faculty).

Workflow Status

This indicates where your application currently sits as one of the following:

- With Student Either you haven't submitted the application or you have been asked (via email) to provide more evidence. It may also have been cancelled at your request.
- With Moderator Your application is with the Independent Moderator being assessed.
- With Faculty Your application is with the Faculty being assessed, or for Test Aegrotat has been completed and a final outcome letter email has been sent to you.
- With Exams Office Your application with the Exams Office awaiting final processing, or has been completed and a final outcome letter email has been sent to you.

J. Edit applications: click to highlight your application in your 'Application History', then click the 'Edit' button to open, view and update previously saved, not submitted or evidence incomplete applications. Once an application has been submitted, it cannot be edited. Ensure you scroll down to the bottom of the screen for the 'Edit' button to appear.
